Descendants of John DODGSON

First Generation

1. John DODGSON was born before 1732 in Hexthorpe, YKS.

General Notes: Once upon a time, a very long time ago (in 1751 to be exact) there was a young chap called John DODGSON, who lived in the small Yorkshire village of Hexthorpe. He had a wife, Sarah and a young child called William. The family were very poor and had to rely on assistance from the parish to survive. He was offered a job as a weaver's assistant in the adjacent village of Bentley, but the Bentley parish elders would not allow him to move to that village.

They said that if he could not earn enough to keep himself and his family the parish of Bentley would have to give him charity, and as that meant it would come out of the pockets of the elders of the parish (who were very rich) they would not have it. Things were very hard in those days - if you were a pauper.

John complained to the elders of Hexthorpe, saying that if he moved to Bentley he would be able to work at the weavers and support his family but that if he stayed in Hexthorpe he would have to live off the parish (and that meant off the parish elders). The Hexthorpe elders liked this argument (it meant they could save some money and get rid of a pauper family), so they agreed to do something about it. They drew up a legal document agreeing to take John Dodgson and his family back if they fell on hard times if Bentley would let them live in that parish for the time being so he could take up the job on offer as a weaver's assistant.

So John and Sarah, with little William moved to Bentley where John eventually became a weaver himself. He did well and never had to rely on the charity of the good folk of Hexthorpe. He had four more children in Balby. His youngest son was called Francis. He was a Husbandman and he had three wives (presumably not all at the same time) - they were Ann Machine, Cybele Sykes and Ann Ogden. He was 56 years old when he married Ann. His son was a stonemason and he had grandchildren but all his grandsons died young so that branch of the family died out.

John (of Hexthorpe) had a second son also called John and he too was a weaver by trade. He had a large family, including four sons, three of whom left descendants, so he must also have had a wife, possibly called Ann.

This second John, had a son Thomas who became a cordwainer. Thomas did very well for himself and as well as his shoemaking business he was landlord of the local pub, called "The Druid Arms"). He seemed to like pubs as in the census of 1851 we find him at a pub called "The Three Horse Shoes" at Doncaster Bridgefoot. Ten years later he is recorded as owning two more pubs in Doncaster, "The White Lion" and "The Royal Lancer". Thomas married a local girl, Mary Windle in 1812, and they had seven children, including William Dodgson who married Sarah Ramsden and carried on the tradition of owning pubs.

Not all John Jr's children did so well. His eldest child, called William (Thomas' elder brother) married a girl called Martha and in the 1820's we find them in Bentley on parish relief and must assume that the elders of Bentley had forgotten that three generations earlier the parish of Hexthorpe had agreed to take them back. The wheel had turned a full circle.

Research Notes: The Bentley records for 30 odd years prior to 1751 show not a single Dod(g)son so I think it is safe to assume that John (Weaver of Bentley) was in fact the same person as John the pauper who moved to Bentley from Hexthorpe in 1751 with the Settlement Certificate. Equally it is clear that the Dodgsons of Bentley are all descended from him - there are no entries in the Church Records which can not be satisfactorily identified with the family line.

Descendants of John DODGSON

I am also satisfied that Thomas (cordwainer and beer retailer) was the same as the Thomas Dodgson who owned the two pubs in Doncaster as there were not others of that name in the area in any of the censuses and that the family kept up its pub owning tradition into the next generation.

The key to taking this family further back is the whereabouts of John Dodson prior to 1751 when he was a pauper in Hexthorpe. I wonder if there is a Settlement Certificate somewhere settling him on Hexthorpe. The elders of Hexthorpe in signing the certificate we have may have know that they could pass him on again if he was thrown out of Bentley. Strangely the Settlement certificate was witnessed by one Samuel Dodson, and this Samuel took the certificate to the Mayor of Doncaster for endorsement. Who was this Samuel? A relative maybe. Why did John receive the offer of a job in Bentley? Was it from a relative of his wife?

We need to find John's marriage to Sarah and the baptism of their son William. Both would have taken place not long before 1751 in the Doncaster area. I could only find one William son of John candidate and that was in Thorne. This is not too far away, but it is in 1736 and a little too early for someone who had a brother in who married in 1778. Also I found the marriage in Thorne of John Dodson and Elizabeth Grey who are probably the parents of the Thorne William - your Williams mother was (presumably) the Sarah who moved to Bentley with husband John in 1751. Perhaps you could search in the Family Centre for these.

- He had a residence on 7 Feb 1885 in Clarence Hotel, Davygate & St. Helens Square, York.
- His obituary was published. From Yorkshire Gazette Sat. Sept. 8, 1888 page 4.
BARNES, Thomas late of the Clarence Hotel, York died at Beverley 31 Aug 1888 aged 47.

Children from this marriage were:

- 85 M i. Thomas Tilford BARNES was born on 11 Feb 1868 in Wood Lane, Beverley, YKS,⁴⁶ was christened on 16 Feb 1868 in St. Mary's & St. Nicholas, Beverley,⁶⁰ died on 17 Oct 1932 in Mill Garth, Harcourt Street, Heworth, York, YKS⁶⁴ aged 64, and was buried in York Cemetery.⁶⁵ The cause of his death was Carcinoma of the Stomach.

General Notes: Lived in York where he was a steward at the Cathedral. He was either a solicitor or an accountant with offices overlooking York Minster. Lived at Millgarth, Heworth, York.

Millgarth was the first house on the right hand side of East Parade going out of the city. East Parade is about 1 mile to the east of the city centre in the suburb of Heworth. The house is still intact - after many years of being converted to a corner shop selling various things, it has just been converted back to a dwelling house. Vyner street, which is still there, is off Haxby Road, about 200 yards to the west of Rowntrees chocolate factory, which would be being constructed when Alfred was born.

Research Notes: In the electoral register commencing May 1, 1929, there is only one daughter listed, that being MAUDE VICTORIA, (this is a combination of the two girls names) & she is there with her parents until 1933, at which point Millgarth is vacated. This is most puzzling. If the electoral registration officer had originally made a name mistake in compiling the register in 1929, you would have thought that the family would have had the name corrected for the following years. And if both girls were living at home & both names were intended to be on the register, then only one of them would have been able to vote.

Medical Notes: Informant at death was E.A. Priestley, of 21 York Road, West Hartlepool, Son-in-law, in attendance.

The History of the Aletaster

It is not known when the first Inn was built on the corner of Chowdene Bank (Lamesley Lane) and Durham Road. Early Bell Plans show buildings on this site.

A diary started in 1809 by T. Bell, a surveyor, states there was only 4 Public Houses in Low Fell, The Buck (Beaconsfield), Cross Keys, Black Horse and the Duke of York. There was no mention of the George the IV.

In 1824 it was decided that a new road should be built, connecting Low Fell with Birtley (Durham Road) this saved travellers the long climb up Sheriff Hill & over Gateshead Fell. To celebrate the building of the new road local magistrates then granted licences for four new inns. Madeleine Hope Dodds in her 'History of Low Fell' refers to the "The Oiling of Dickies Wig" this was a stanza by one of Low Fells most famous sons, Thomas Wilson (1774-1858) celebrating the first Stage Coach to go along Durham Road on the 17th June 1826. Wilson describes how Dickie and his friends "The Squad of Queer Chaps" called at each of the new inns, The Ship, The Cannon, The Engine and the Sovereign (which Dodds takes to be the George the IV). The Dickie they referred to was Dickie Fenwick a mine owner of Sheriff Hill Hall and local wit.

The first recorded entry of the George IV found to date is in 'Richardson's Trade Directory' for 1837. The Innkeeper was Thomas Charlton a Victualler and Horse Dealer. An advertisement on the front page of The Gateshead Observer dated 5th April 1845 offers 'to Farmer and Others' pure Hen's Nest potatoes at 5 shillings a load, apply George IV Inn. In 1885 plans drawn up by George W. Caris of Gateshead showed the original inn stood on the other side of the narrow lane north of the pub. Old stone work can be seen in the gable end of the house that stands there now. The plans also show an idea for the conversion of the old tavern into a house.

The building of the present inn began in 1885 on the instructions of Colonel Charles Reed. The Coach House was enlarged in 1898 and a cellar added in 1895 with the proviso that it could not be more than 8 foot deep. 1906 plans show the addition of the garden that you can see today.

There were some landlords that held the licence for a considerable number of years. The first being thirty-four year old Henry Tully of Kibblesworth, with his wife Hannah and fifteen year old servant Elizabeth Harrison. This is shown in the 1841 census returns. By 1861 fifty-five year Henry was now married to twenty-five year old Elizabeth (we are not sure what happened to Hannah; perhaps we should dig up the Cellar). The Register of Alehouses in Gateshead show more owners and landlords. In 1879 the owner was E.J. Reid of Newbiggin House Northumberland and the landlady was Jane McKie who applied for a licence renewal in the September of 1879. J Barras & Co Ltd took over ownership in 1888. Newcastle Breweries Old Properties Ledger (1890 - 1960) shows the acquisition of the pub on the formation of the brewery in 1890. Jane McKie renewed the licence in 1891.

Jane McKie applied for planning permission for many of the houses in the surrounding area including parts of Hutton Tce, Worley Avenue as well as the shops and houses you see directly opposite the pub. It's also possible that Lockerbie House and Dryffe House adjacent to the inn were built by her, as they were constructed in the same era and the town of Lockerbie, with the river Dryffe running through was her place of birth. The licence was later transferred to Arthur Henry Barnes in October 1904, then John W Carr in 1931, Thomas Arthur Allan in 1941, Horatio John Rhodes in 1947. The register then ends in 1955.

Trade Directories for 1934 and 1938 show J N Frazer then subsequently Paul Pilkington at the George IV. It is not clear though as to whether they were managers or not.

A photograph from 1910 shows a large notice welcoming cyclists. In 1938 the freehold value of the inn was £38,000.

The pub was for many years a Fitzgerald managed house. In 1989 Scottish & Newcastle Breweries decided it needed a new image. It reopened on the 6th June 1989 as The Aletaster part of the T J Bernard group and became one of the areas top real ale bars. It passed into the hands of the Spirit Group then finally Enterprise Inns.

The Inn has evolved over the years from a rural tavern, coaching inn, local pub into the eclectic mix of real ale and sports bar

He was a witness at his Brother Harold's wedding Jan 22, 1908 in Newcastle.

From research done by James E. Cowden, author of the book "The Elder Dempster Fleet History 1852-1985" by Cowden/Duffy; published by Mallett and Bell Publications, Norfolk.

Harold Barnes served with African Branch Service of Elder Dempster (ED). ED operated numerous vessels based out in West Africa particularly within the Niger Delta where a lot of the very small ports could not be reached by the main line ships.

A lot of these ports had very shallow drafts and being adjacent to the various produce plantations. These services came under the jurisdiction of the Nigeria Manager based in Lagos. Quite a lot of these ships carried an African Master whilst those considered to be a little larger carried a European Master and Chief Officer and also a European Chief and Second Engineer. They did tours of duty of about 9-12 months returning to the UK (or out to West Africa) per one of the main line ships.

It is noted that H. Barnes served his Apprenticeship with the British and Argentina Steamship Company and obtained his Masters certificate at Hull on the 14th March 1903. Certificate number 029689. He (on joining ED's) resided at 73 Marsland Road, Sale. He joined ED's as Chief Officer on 12th February 1919 and was appointed Master, on the 18th March 1919 aboard the s.s."Lagos". Some of the boats Harold Barnes commanded were Lagos - Bida - Kwibo - Sir George. He also commanded other Branch Boats. On the 18th April 1937 he was in command of s.s. Kwaibo and it is noted "Conduct and ability satisfactory but energy declining. Wishes to do another tour. It is clear that he returned to West Africa because he was passed fit on 3rd November 1937 and took command of the Kwaibo again. He returned to the United Kingdom arriving at Liverpool on 11th November 1938 per the m.v. Abosso. I add that this was the flagship of the company; having been built at Cammell Lairds, Birkenhead in 1935. He probably retired/left the company on his return. It is noted that during his time he always received very good reports from the Nigeria Manager. He also changed his address to 20 Norman Road, Sale.

OBITUARY - SALE - SEA CAPTAIN'S DEATH

Many expressions of sympathy have been made to the family of Captain Harold Barnes, 20 Norman Road, Sale, whose death occurred at his home on Sunday, in his 65th year. Captain Barnes, whose home had been at Sale for the past 27 years, had a long record of service in the Merchant Navy, including the war years of 1914-18, when he carried both troops and foodstuffs, and had his ship torpedoed three times. It was during the Great War that Captain Barnes received his first command with the Prince Line, which he had served for 15 years. He afterwards spent 20 years with the Elder Dempster Line on the West African service until his retirement in December last, owing to ill-health.

Research Notes: Harold was not found in 1891 or 1901 Census, so he was most likely at sea.

Medical Notes: Informant was H. G. Barnes, his son. He died at his home - 20 Norman Road, Sale.

58. Emma Maria DODGSON (*William*⁴, *Thomas*³, *John*², *John*¹) was born 1st QTR 1861 in Balby, YKS.¹¹²

General Notes: Balby is/was a funny place. In before the late 19th century it did not exist as an entity, but has been about since at least the 16th century as a district. The area was prior to the 19th century a wet land (it is at sea level even though well inland) The local town was Tickhill and the towns of Warmsworth and Doncaster were only just beginning. Roads ran along the spurs of land between the flooded valleys (called Carrs locally). Balby was the area were the road from Tickhill on the Great North Road (and Bawtry, an inland port) joined the road from Warmsworth to Doncaster. You should be able to see this on a map. There were a few houses near the junction and others scattered on higher land above the Carr. This was Balby. In the late 19th century the wetlands were drained and as Doncaster grew (a centre for Railway train building and a coal rail head) it engulfed the road junction and Balby. Now Balby is an outskirt of Doncaster, and Tickhill has lost its port and its link with the Great North Road (now the M1 motorway) and has become a small sleepy village.
